Life Extension Integra-Lean™ Irvingia, 150mg, 60 Vcaps

Scientists have identified specific biological mechanisms that cause aging people to gain weight… no matter how little they eat. The problem was that there was no way to circumvent the underlying factors that cause excess body fat… until now! As you are about to learn, gaining control over your body's command signals is critical to maintaining a healthy weight.

Leptin is a hormone that tells our brain that we have consumed enough calories and can stop eating. Leptin also induces a process whereby fat stored in cells is broken down. As we age, our cells (including the appetite control center in our brains) become "leptin resistant." This means that leptin is unable to effectively regulate body weight.

Pet Supplies

Life Extension Dog Mix, 100 Grams

Thought to be derived from several wild species of mammals, dogs are domesticated carnivorous animals that now enjoy pride of place in American homes. "Man's best friend" is a perfect companion who can live a long active life if properly cared for. Just like human beings, dogs need carbohydrates, fats, proteins, vitamins, minerals, and water in a balanced diet to stay healthy. Unfortunately, most dog foods are not necessarily ideal. In fact, there have been claims that some pet foods contain meat and other ingredients unfit for animal consumption.

Dogs can tolerate plant-based food ... but because they are essentially meat eaters, they need a good amount of meat protein in their diets for their unique systems. Like people, dogs (and cats) suffer from the same conditions related to aging. So they may benefit from certain nutrients.

Dog Mix contains significant amounts of high-grade nutrients usually reserved for the most expensive human supplements. It contains flavonoids, amino acids, antioxidants, probiotics, essential fatty acids, methylation enhancers, and more.

Nordic Naturals Pet Cod Liver Oil, 8oz

Nordic Naturals Pet Cod Liver Oil is the highest quality cod liver oil available. Unlike other cod liver oils made for pets, Nordic Naturals Pet Cod Liver Oil adheres to the same freshness and purity standards (European Pharmacopoeia) set for medicinal human consumption.

The exceptional product quality virtually eliminates oxidative stress (a reaction in the body from rancid fats which can lead to inflammation and disease) and optimizes the utilization of these essential fatty acids in the body.
